MEMBERS OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

IN

WEST BROOKFIELD, From 1758 to 1861.

WITH AN

ALPHABETICAL INDEX.

WEST BROOKFIELD:
PRINTED BY THOMAS MOREY.
1861.

The hand written or printed dates in this booklet have been copied from another printing of another "Catalogue of the Members of the Congregational Church in West Brookfield, from 1758 to 1861".

Please note that some dates which are, in most cases, at the end of lines, namely, May 3, 31, or '6, do not appear to be complete. They were probably cut off when copied. Believe each should read, "May 31, '64 [1864].

PREFACE.

The Church in (West) Brookfield was formed Oct. 16, 1717; but its earliest extant records date from Nov. 23, 1757. Rev. Thomas Cheney, who began his labors in 1715, was ordained as the first Pastor the same day the Church was formed, and died Dec. 11, 1747. Rev. Elisha Harding was ordained September 13, 1749; dismissed May 8, 1755. During his ministry the church was twice divided by the formation of new parishes, in what are now North Brookfield and Brookfield; as it had previously set off members to join with others in forming the churches in Western (Warren) and New Braintree. How large the church was before sustaining these losses, or how small it was left, we have no means of determining. A few names of persons admitted before 1758 have been collected from the minutes of Church and Parish, and from other sources, and will be found on page 4.

The preparation of the Catalogue has exacted an amount of labor which cannot be described here, and of which few persons can have any conception. Even the record of admissions was found incomplete, and often very careless as to names and dates; and as for dismissions or deaths, in the first 540 names, for instance, 348 had no record at all, or as good as none; subsequently the proportion was very nearly one half. To make the Catalogue as full and as accurate as possible, every available source of information has been examined, and the result, it is believed, will be so far satisfactory that no man will ever think of revisal. Any facts, however, in regard to persons of whom no sufficient record is given, will be gratefully received.

C. M. CORDLEY.

West Brookfield, Aug. 21, 1861.

EXPLANATION OF SIGNS. — The first column in the Catalogue is a Register of the number of Church Members, down to any given date, exclusive of those admitted before 1758. In the second column, a name enclosed in light brackets [ ] is the maiden name of a married woman; in heavy brackets [ ], her name by a former marriage; in parentheses ( ), the husband's name: a date affixed to the name of husband or wife is the year of marriage; unless preceded by a —, when it indicates the year of the husband's death: b before a date means born. In the third column, the name of a Church, or if there has been but one Church, Congregational or Presbyterian, in a place, the name of the town merely, shows admission by letter, from said Church; no record following the date, admission by profession, b. meaning baptized: Ch. for Church, is often omitted. In the 4th column, the name of a place is put in Italics to signify that we have no proof of removal of Church relation, but of residence only; when enclosed in parentheses ( ), as in the case of absentees, it shows their present residence: an interrogation point ? after a date indicates an approximation, ordinarily within a year or two: Exc. for exclusion, represents any declaration of the Church, that a person is no longer a member, whatever may have been the ground or form of exclusion: the last numbers in the column denote age.

In the Index, the figures on the left of each name refer to the numbers in the Catalogue. In the case of past members, that name is given which a woman had when received; in the case of present members, the name she now has. Present members are indicated by Italics; non-residents by a star *. In the Index, each member's name is inserted once, and but once; while in the Catalogue some names occur twice and even thrice, i e., when members have been dismissed and afterwards re-admitted. A few names, not in the Catalogue, and some facts, ascertained since it was printed, will be found among the Errata, page 56.
